

About us

York Communications was founded in 1987 and by the mid 90s was one of the first business development consultancies specializing in renewable energies, environmental technologies and sustainability in central europe.

We support corporations, public and private organizations and institutions with Market Development, Company and Project Financing, Image and Reputation Management and with every aspect of communication with stakeholders in the economic, social and political environment.

Our services include Public and Media Relations, Financial Communications, Internal Communications (with a focus on Indirect Sales Systems), Sustainability and Corporate Social Responsibility, Crisis Communication and Change Communications.